

GRAPEVINE

The Second Annual Grapevine Young Writers Award Goes to Hannah Moss

Last year the young writers ranged in age from 13 to 20, this year from 16 to 22, representing Italian and international backgrounds.

We are happy to announce that 3 finalists have been selected: Hannah Moss is the winner, with Michela Alberigi and Jessica Butori runners up. We have already published two articles by Hannah and will be publishing more of her work, as well as Michela's and Jessica's, later this year.

We await Hannah's imminent return to Italy, after which we will select a venue where our 3 finalists will be invited for a convivial gathering to meet the Grapevine team and celebrate their contributions.

Congratulations to these young writers!